To Whom It May Concern,

Hello, I am a Professional Engineer who graduated from The Military College of Canada in Kingston, Ontario, in 1962, in civil engineering.

After my military service, I started working in the construction industry, first as Site Engineer and then as Project Manager. Out of my 42 years in construction, I have been sole owner and president of a general construction company for 18 years.

In the later 10 years, I have had the opportunity to work with Benoit Paquet, whom I got to know very well, having to work very closely with him: namely in a general contractor's main office in Montreal, three years in Cuba at the construction of hotels and, lately, more than a year in Vancouver in the construction of a high-rise development and other types of construction.

I do hereby declare that I know Benoit to be a very experienced and well organized person, that has and can direct a large construction company with all that it implies, or even start a new one from scratch. I also know Benoit to be a very resourceful, imaginative, objective oriented and courageous individual. He is not afraid to put whatever effort is required to achieve his goal. He also is a polyglot besides being a man of culture.

Benoit is an honest, extremely conscientious, devoted, hardworking person that I would, without the least hesitation, most agreeably recommend to any construction company or developer in search of a highly qualified and knowledgeable leader.

In my books, and all my life having been in construction, I declare he is the best that I have ever had the privilege to work with.

It is with persons like him that great things can be achieved.

Yours truly,
